Hello, my name is George. There have been many famous Georges: George Washington, George Costanza, Curious George. Well, you can add my name to the list, and that's Gorgeous George. Unfortunately, some of us black kitties - even the gorgeous ones - are kind of overlooked, and that happened to me at the Lake County animal shelter, a rural shelter in Northern California. Luckily a rescue group came in and got me out at the last minute as they had found a loving family who wanted to adopt me, but then my tests came back as FeLV positive (although I am negative for FIV). Thing is, we positive kitties can still live long, healthy lives, but it probably would be best if I found a home where I was the only kitty or lived with another kitty who had tested positive. Otherwise, I'm in good health, am current on shots, neutered, and ready for a new home. I am a big, solid boy at 12 pounds and quite mellow and talkative. Here's how great a companion I am: I'd rather be petted and have a good long chat with you than eat. I'm just that sweet and loving -- or, you might say, my gorgeous personality matches my looks. I am currently in Oakland, but transportation is available if you're interested in me.
